

Senator Noland's STIMULUS 101 & ARRA Websites

ARRA Websites. The federal government's American Recovery and Reinvestment Act ("ARRA") website is: <http://www.recovery.gov/>.

The State of Illinois website (which includes a link where anyone can propose a stimulus program for funding) is: <http://recovery.illinois.gov/>.

There's a new recovery website from the U.S. Conference of Mayors.
<http://www.usmayors.org/recovery/>.

The Illinois Department of Transportation has launched a recovery-related website at <http://www.dot.il.gov/stimulus/stip.html>. It includes links to ARRA projects that have been approved or are being considered for approval by the implementing agencies that receive federal funds through IDOT.

Also, the Stimulus Watch site has a list of project links by state and city:
http://www.stimuluswatch.org/project/by_state.

The Chicago Metropolitan Agency for Planning ("CMAP") has a great deal of information on its website. www.cmap.illinois.gov/recovery, which it updates frequently. We have reprinted portions of the information from that site herein for your convenience.

The United Way of America public policy team has put together four pre-recorded PowerPoint presentations based on their analysis of ARRA. These presentations total about two hours and 45 minutes. We thought some readers would be interested in the materials, organized by Overview, Education, Income, and Health.

Additional links are provided here on the "Links & Services" page of my website.
